A THOUGHT

There is not a just man upon earth, that doeth good, and sinneth not.—Ecc. 7:20.

If we desire to judge justly, we must persuade ourselves that none of us is without sin.—Seneca.

WHO PAYS TAXES?

EVERYBODY

Let us face the matter fairly.

Everybody pays taxes.

We may not own one square foot of land or the first two bricks of a house. We may not have seven dollars in the bank or one single ten-dollar bond or savings certificate. We may not own the tools we work with; the stove we cook with, or the bed we sleep on. We may not yet have paid in full for the hat on our head, the clothes on our back, or the books on our feet.

But we pay taxes, just as surely as if we owned houses, and lots, stocks and bonds, bank accounts, farms, and mills, factories or railroads.

We all have to eat. If the grocer's landlord has to pay higher taxes, the grocer has to pay higher rent, and we have to pay the grocer higher prices for our food.

We all have to sleep. If the man who owns the house we rent has to pay higher taxes, then we have to pay higher rent.

We all have to wear clothes. If the clothing manufacturer and merchant have to pay higher taxes, then you and I and the other fellow have to pay higher prices for our clothing.

If the railroads have to pay higher taxes, they have to charge higher rates for carrying coal, and we have to pay higher prices for our fuel.

Higher taxes on the gas company, the power company, or the street railway mean higher prices we must pay for gas or electricity or street car fares.

We all have to pay taxes.

We can all see how this principle works in these direct ways. But in the indirect ways in which high taxes are the cause of high cost of living, are so roundabout that it is not always clear in the long run we who are consumers must all pay taxes.

Unlucky heavy taxes on financial institutions mean high interest for loans, expensive mortgages, and just so much higher cost for the houses we buy or rent.

Every time we pay one dollar to a railroad, we pay five cents for taxes.

No matter who pays taxes directly to the tax collector, we all pay our share indirectly whether we own a taxable income or not.

Out of every eight dollars of our national income, one dollar goes for taxes, federal, state and local.

The boy whose living expenses are $8 a week pays one dollar in taxes, in the form of prices made higher by taxation.

The man who pays out $24 a week is paying $3 of taxes, the man expending $48 pays $6, and so on. And he pays this, even if he does not own one dollar's worth of taxable property.

He pays it in cost of living, and he cannot pass the cost along to somebody else.

Let us all remember—

That we now pay one dollar out of every eight dollars for taxes!

MAGAZINE SEEKS TO HONOR GREAT WOMAN

After years of doing honor to the world's great men, Pictorial Review wishes to reverse the old order of things and give honor to some of the world's great women. They announce in their current issue an annual award of $5000 to the woman whose greatest contribution to civilization. We print in full the article concerning the award, written by Ida Clyde Charles, who was a Middlesboro visitor about a year and a half ago.

In offering an annual award of $5000 to the American woman who contributes most toward the advancement of American civilization in the various fields of endeavor, Pictorial Review gives to this country the honor of being the first in the world to thus recognize greatness in woman. Since the third century B. C. men have had organizations for the purpose of finding and doing honor to great men. But isn't it astonishing that never before have we thought of giving a national award of this kind to women? And yet history is filled with the records of the great deeds of great women. Organizations and individuals have given prizes, scholarships, medals, etc., for distinguished achievement in specialized fields; but now, for the very first time, we are to make an annual nationwide search for the woman whose name may be, contributes most to our American life.

We are going to place a bit of laurel on her brow, but we are going to do something more than that. We are going to put into her hands, before Christmas time each year, a substantial check, in order that she may go on with her work with perhaps a little less anxiety and certainly with the "affectionate" assurance that we believe in her and appreciate her.

Word came over the cables recently that Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, had been elected to membership in the Academy of Moral and Political Sciences of the Institute of France. In detail we were informed, "in the front pages of the newspapers, that Dr. Butler is henceforth entitled to the uniform designed by the First Napoleon, consisting of a dark-green clay-banner coat covered with embroidered palm-leaves, trousers of the same hue, a cocked hat with green feathers, and a court sword." What a picture! And how! It would laugh at us, women, if we "honored" ourselves like that!

A Substantial Scrap of Paper

But, for all our supposed "clothes complex," we women are more practical than that. The honor we are going to bestow is to be symbolized, not by elaborate exterior decoration, but by a mere scrap of paper. But that scrap of paper will make it possible for the recipient to have an opportunity, which so many women lack, for going on, unhampered, to even greater accomplishments.

Today we have in this country the National Academy of Design, the American Academy of Arts and Letters, the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and the Hall of Fame. In some of these has the greatest recognition. Of the one hundred members of the National Academy of Design there are only three women. The American Academy of Arts and Letters did elect Julia Ward Howe an honorary—not an active—member almost at the end of her remarkable career. We are gratified to say that women are at last receiving some recognition in the Hall of Fame. Since this institution was made possible by the gift of a woman, Mrs. Finley Shepard (nee Helen Gould), it does seem that this door should be wide open to them.

To Stimulate Woman Achievement

Pictorial Review not only wishes to make this award of $5000 annually to some woman who has rendered distinguished service in her own particular field, but we earnestly hope that the establishment of the award will be the means of our giving to the world stories of our great women, many of whom have worked unhonored and unsung, each in her own way. We need the stimulation, the inspiration that such stories are sure to bring. We need to know these women so that we can appreciate them, to still greater achievement.

Great women will not always be found in great places. We must look for them in the byways as well as in the highways of life. There are women whose genius is flowing from roots that are cramp in a job that is all too small, or undernourished, in an environment that is none too congenial. These are the women whose stories will be worth telling. These are the women we want to hear about. From this time on Pictorial Review will publish "personalities" of our women of note, in order that our readers may come to know and value them.

It is our hope that individuals and organizations of every kind will make judges may have fullest information before them in making the decision.

Only thing some people save for a rainy day is rheumatism.

THIS LITTLE WORLD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Washington's Association of Oldest Inhabitants, an organization of the capital's graybeards, who have lived here 50 years or more, are in a real sense living over again the days of their youth.

These are the boys who "remember when." And the murmur of their reminiscences has risen high the past few weeks as they have harked back in search of some milestone of political scandal to equal that which has arisen over the Fall-Doherty-Sinclair leases of the naval oil reserves.

According to these ancients, nothing approaching the present scandal has developed since the "Star Route" and "Credit Mobilier" scandals under President Grant.

The troubles of the Grant administration, it seems, were many and varied. Those were the good old days when the theory of "To the victor belong the spoils" was first beginning to be questioned.

Secretary of War Belknap, against whom impeachment proceedings were brought, on charges of having accepted bribes in connection with the management of army posts, resigned and his case was dropped.

Grant's private secretary, Babcock, was shown to have participated in frauds which cheated the government out of large amounts of revenue taxes on whisky. This "whisky ring," in which government officials and distillers were shown to be banded, benefited to the extent of more than $1,000,000—a large sum 50 years ago.

the "Credit Mobilier," the corporation organized to handle the funding of the Union Pacific Railroad came to light.

Fat appropriations for favored insiders in the Postal Service were turned up in the "Star Route" scandal. Corrupt postal officials, in league with stage-coach lines, padded the receipts on volume of mail carried and faked in thousands of dollars to receive never repaid.

The aftermath of these scandals was the deadlock in the election of 1876. A special electoral commission of five senators, five representatives and five judges passed on the electoral vote of four contested states. The commission was split eight Republicans and seven Democrats and by a strict party vote they awarded the votes of Florida, Louisiana, South Carolina and Oregon to Rutherford B. Hayes, the Republican candidate. This result was ratified by a joint session of Congress, in which the Republican Senate carried the balance of power.

The House, which was democratic, immediately resolved and declared that Samuel J. Tilden, the Democratic candidate, had been elected on the face of returns.

But the selection of Hayes stood.

Whether such a deadlock—with the final result in doubt because of a possible third-party factor—will allow the present all-lease scandal is a subject of speculation and debate at every meeting of the oldest inhabitants.

And a lot of younger inhabitants are debating that same possibility, too.

GOING SOME

If every morning when you rise
You view the world with friendly eyes,
And if each day you do your work
And not dodge or slack or shirk;

If this day's job is fully done
Before tomorrow has begun,
And you can say with truth sincere,
"My work-lench—or my desk—is clear";

If, whether things go well or ill,
You greet the world with right good will,
And never take out on your wife
The grouch you sometimes have on life;

If you can bravely stand the gaff,
Look in the face of fate and laugh,
Whether the luck be good or bum,
Why then, old top, you're Going some!

And I can tell you frank and free,
You sure will have it over on me.

D. C. SELLERS PRESENTS LETTERS FROM PROMINENT LOCAL MEN ENDORSING HIM FOR CHIEF OF POLICE

Middlesboro, Ky.,
December 31, 1923.

To the Mayor and Commissioners,
Middlesboro, Ky.
Gentlemen:

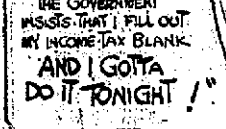

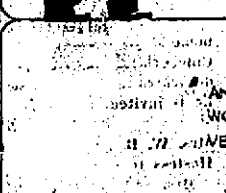

If there is a new chief of police to be considered I recommend D. C. Sellers as I know him to be qualified to fill the place and he will perform his duty in a way that will be satisfactory to the public and show partialities to none. I hope the past election will be forgotten and that we can cooperate for a better Middlesboro.

Respectfully yours,
H. H. GILES.

Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton
THIS ONE'S A PERFECT CIRCUS

Sing a song of fifty cents

"Why, I'm so surprised to see everybody here today!" declared the Riddle Lady, looking around at all the Riddle Land people and Mother Goose people—also Nancy and Nick, the Twins.

But she was only joking and everybody knew it, for the day before she had offered some boneset tea mixed with sulphur and mokeses for a prize and not a soul would have it.

So, my dears, if anybody goes to give you any sulphur and molasses this spring, or anything dreadful like that, just because it is spring, look hard at the bottle it is in. I don't know what became of it, but it might be the very same one!

But there! I talk more and say less, don't I! I forgot all about the riddle. Here it is:

"Sing a song of fifty cents,
A pocketful of dimes,
I went to a big show,
Greatest of all times,
When the tents were opened,
We went crowding in;
It's fun to see the animals
Before the acts begin."

"Popcorn and peanuts,
And tubs of lemonade,
And wagons all painted,
(The ones in the parade),
Balloon men and ticket men,
What a lovely din!
I'm sure it is the grandest place
That I have ever been!"

"Lions and tigers,
And camels lying down—
The giraffe with the long neck
Who sees all over town!
And elephants and leopards

"And kangaroos and crocodiles
With spots upon their skin,
With such a silly grin!"

"The hippo, and rhino
With horns upon his nose,
The brown bear, the black bear
With patent toes,
The zebra, the mountain goat,
With whiskers on his chin,
The antelope and porcupine
With quills sticking in."

"And then there are the figgers
That juggle with their toes,
And even one that balances
A flag-pole on his nose!
And riders, and acrobats,
And seals that make a din,
And clowns all turning somersaults,
That make your head spin!"

"And there are four-horse chariots,
And Romans that race,
And elephants that do a dance,
And march all 'round the place;
And last of all the side shows,
Fat folks and thin;
Now can you tell this wondrous place,

Where I have been?"

"A circus!" shouted everybody.
"Good!" laughed the Riddle Lady. "And here are tickets for every body."

INDIAN LOVE SONG

Neither spirit nor bird,
That was my flute you heard
Last night by the river,
When you came with your wicker hat
Where the river drags its willows,
That was my flute you heard,
Wacoba, Wacoba,
Calling, come to the willows.

Neither the wind nor a bird
That was my flute you heard
That was my blood you heard
Answer your garments' hem
Whispering through the grasses,
That was my blood you heard,
By the wild rose under the willows.

That was no beast that stirred,
That was my heart you heard.

Good Manners

No matter how much older, or even more distinguished, the man is always presented to the woman. Except, of course, a nation's ruler or chief.

Pacing to and fro
In the ambush of my desire,
To the music my flute let fall
Wacoba, Wacoba,
That was my heart you heard
Leaping under the willows,
From the Shoshone, translated Mary Austin.

Lovely Birthday Party
For Little Estep Boy
The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R.
Estep on Manchester avenue was a scene of a lovely party Tuesday afternoon between the hours of three and five, given in the honor of their little son, Wm. Roscoe Estep, Jr.'s fourth birthday anniversary. The rooms were thrown open for the occasion and attractively arranged with pink and white carnations and pink rose buds. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decorating of the rooms and in the serving of the refreshments. In the large reception room where the little folks were entertained, was a table decorated with pink and white crepe paper. Four pieces of the paper were attached to the cut glass chandelier, adding to the beauty of the setting. The many gifts were placed on a low table, and the little guests enjoyed surrounding it and admiring the presents. In the center of the dining room table was a large birthday cake, burning four small pink candles, surrounded by the four large pink burning tapers in silver holders. Three interesting simple contests were enjoyed by the little folks. The winners were: Homer Lawrence Hoc, contest number 1;
Marion Austin, Jr., contest number
2; Lee Farris, Jr., contest number
3. The favors were small handmade bags filled with pink and white candy and all-day suckers dressed as Mrs. Estep was assisted in entertaining and serving by Mrs. Wayland Smith, Mrs. Homer Hoc and her sister, Miss Lena Snyder.

FRENCH HEELS ARE BARRED BY SHOE DEALERS THIS YEAR

Chicago, Feb. 13.—This year's shoes will have no skyraiper heels, sharply pointed toes of stiletto pumps, according to the styles committee of the National Shoe Retailers' association at its annual convention and style review at the oniseum.

New features, buckles and materials are introduced in the exhibit of 15, 000 pairs of shoes on display. None but those conforming to the styles committee's slogan, "freedom from foot hurts," have been permitted.

Such terms as "French heels" and
"French toes" are fast disappearing, asserted G. M. Spangler, secretary-treasurer of the convention. "Today most of the world's population in America and the growth of the industry in the United States has eliminated, to

How Population Has Grown in L & N Served Territory ~

Population is always the gauge of prosperity. No matter what a state or community's natural resources are, its real wealth is no more than the extent to which its resources are developed. People are needed to till the soil, operate the mines, husband the stock, run the factories, and otherwise carry on the work necessary to the upbuilding of all land.

In 1850, when the L. & N. came into being, seven of the Southern states which it serves to-day (Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee) had an average population of 15 people per square mile. To-day, seventy-four years later, this population is increased to 43.8—or nearly three times as many people as in 1850.

Adequate and reliable transportation, largely supplied by the L. & N., has made possible the growth of this territory. People have been brought from elsewhere to join in its development. Conveniently accessible markets have been provided for its products. Interchange between the states, and with the rest of the world, has been made easy of accomplishment.

Important as this has been, the L. & N.
has done still more. Through its immigration and Industrial Department it has invested time and money in exploiting the South to other parts of the country. It has induced many farmers and manufacturers to come in and settle here, thus—in addition to its basic service as a carrier —making a definite contribution to the South's growth.

This work the L. & N. will continue to perform; constantly striving to make its service a greater and more helpful factor in the upbuilding of its territory.

ROSE HILL NOTES

The Rev. J. M. Jennings of Dot, Va., spent Friday with his son, Prof. M. B. Jennings. They went together to Sweetwater, Tenn., to spend the weekend.

The little daughter of Mrs. L. C. Giles, 383, accidentally run over by an automobile on her way home from school. The child was not seriously injured, so far as is now known.

Johnson and Burke has ceased to be a firm since C. H. Johnson has purchased the share of took of Mrs. Mabel Burke Ely.

The funeral of Pierce Raines was conducted Monday afternoon at McLean cemetery by the Rev. I. S. Anderson. Mr. Raines had lived in Harlan, Ky., for many years, being employed for many years by Boone's Path Iron Co. Until recently he had been living near Appomattox, Va. He is survived by three sons and one daughter.

R. C. Wolfenbarger of Appomattox spent Sunday with his father.

The Rev. John Lynch who has charge of the revival services here at the M. E. Church, had to be absent Saturday and Sunday because of quarterly meeting at his home church at LaFollette, Tenn.

WOULDN'T EXCHANGE WITH MILLIONAIRE

After five years of suffering with stomach trouble I think I know about it. But thanks to Mear's Wonderful Remedy I am enjoying good health again. I know of a millionaire who is very fond of Mear's Wonderful Remedy. He has a patent medicine in his present condition I wouldn't exchange with him. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the intestinal mucus from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One does not need a doctor or money refunded. At Lee's and all drug stores everywhere.

FOR CONSTIPATION

Black-Draught Recommended by an Arkansas Farmer Who Has Used It, When Needed, for 25 Years.

Hafield, Ark.—Mr. G. W. Parsons, a well-known farmer on Route 1, this place, says: "I keep Black-Draught in my home all the time. It is the best all-around medicine I have ever found for the liver and for constipation. We began using it 25 or more years ago and have used it whenever needed since. I have never found any other medicine as good for constipation, and that was what I suffered with till I began using Black-Draught. Black-Draught corrected this condition, and how we use it for the liver and for indigestion—a tight and sluggish feeling after meals, for bad taste in the mouth and poor stomach."

"My wife uses it for headache and biliousness. It sets on our shelf and we don't let it get out. It has been a great help to us. I believe a great deal of sickness is caused by hurried eating and constipation, and Black-Draught, if taken right, will correct this condition."

NEWS FROM HARLAN AND VICINITY

HARLAN PRISON FUGITIVE

WENT THREE YEARS FORTH

HARLAN, Feb. 13.—Geo. Stubbs and Jim Jones, colored, who escaped from jail three years ago, were caught last week by officer Carl Gross, in Logan, W. Va., and brought back to Harlan. Both were serving sentences for committing a felony.

THIRTEEN NEGROES CAUGHT IN CARD GAME AT CHEVROLET

HARLAN, Feb. 13.—Officer Hall brought in 13 colored folk from Chevrolet Monday night, who were engaged in a friendly and social game of cards. This is about the largest haul any one officer has made in a long time. One of the participants exclaimed as he shuffled into jail, that the number 13 was always unlucky for him.

HIRAM JENSEN WINS SUIT AGAINST FATHER

HARLAN, Feb. 13.—The jury in the case of C. E. Jensen vs. Old Fellows Lodge of Wallis Creek, could not agree on a verdict. This is a suit in which Jensen claims that the old Fellows owe him some insurance money, which they have refused to pay.

L. AND N. TO CUT FOR HOMECOMING

First to Grant Privileges to Those Coming to Louisville for June Celebration

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 13.—The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company is not going to let absent Kentuckians now residing in the territory it serves to "go broke" when they buy their tickets for the trip back to their home state to attend Kentucky's 1924 Home Coming celebration in June. For it quieted the fears of many recently when it announced through Frank B. Russell, chairman of hospitality for the Home Coming, that it, as well as other Southern railroads, will shortly announce reduced rates from all points on their lines for the state's big "house party."

This announcement means that Home Comers throughout the territory east of the Mississippi River and south of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers will be able to buy tickets to Louisville and return at the rate of one and one-half the regular fares. And it is regarded as about the most important news Home Coming officials have heard. "It is expected that the good news as to special rates in the Southern Passenger Association territory will be followed by an announcement of reduced rates River and west of the Mississippi River."

Within the near future, or perhaps before the end of February, the Southern Railroad probably will publish detailed information as to conditions and dates of sales of Home Coming tickets. Home Coming headquarters has announced that it will see that this information is broadcast wherever Kentuckians are located.

Mr. Russell's department has also made applications for similar concessions from all the other railroad systems in the country and Home Coming officials expect the responses to be encouraging.

Round-trip rates of a fare and a half represent the greatest concession that can be looked for from railroads these days, it is said. Where the "haul" is for great distances more reduction is sometimes made. This is the case as to the summer tourist rates from points in the Pacific Coast territory. Kentuckians in that part of the country will be able to take advantage of the special rates to the East of one and one-third fares—the most favorable that any of the Home Coming hosts will enjoy. Louisville is one of the "destination points" to which such rates will be in effect, and they will prevail in time for Home Comers to use them.

For the first Home Coming eight-

In the case of Hiram Jensen vs. his father, Milton Jensen, a verdict was brought in for the plaintiff, which gave him a nominal sum in damages and a right of way which he claimed. There are two other cases pending between Milton Jensen and his sons in the same court.

Marriage Licenses Issued

HARLAN, Feb. 13.—The following marriage licenses were issued recently: Mackley Skidmore and Maudie Dams of Chesapeake, Sherrill Williams of Sayre and Myrtle Hubbard of Harlan; Allan C. Still of Harlan and Lovie E. Rice of Harlan.

SEEK CONCRETE ROAD FROM WALLIS TO TWILA

WALLIS, W. Va., Feb. 13.—The leading citizens of Wallis seek to promote the building of a concrete road from the town to the camp of the Creesh Coal Company at Twila. It is proposed that the property owners of Wallis who live on the road through town and to the corporation line make up enough donations to build the road to that place, and that Fort, Kentucky, King and Creesh Coal Companies finish the road from the corporation line to the head of the hollow.

teen years ago, round-trip rates of one and one-third were given by all railroads and 40,000 Home Comers took advantage of them. At that time, too, tickets out in the state at one fare plus 25 cents. It will not be possible to equal that this year, but it is already assured that liberally reduced rates will be in effect. Ticket sales to be timed so that the utmost in the way of privileges will be extended to all Home Comers.

MORE MONEY FOR GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

State Inspector Says Kentucky Should Appropriation $50,000—U. S. Office Equal Sum

By Associated Press.
FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 13.—The appropriation by the state of $17,500 for co-operative purposes, with the federal government for the Kentucky Geological Survey, annually should be increased to $50,000 a year (Henry L. James, state inspector and examiner, gives as his opinion in a report of the survey covering the period from January 1, 1922 to October 31, 1923, made public today.

"The federal government matches dollar for dollar of our appropriation of $17,500 for topographical mapping," the report declares. "It also sends its experts to do the work and approves the expense bill without question, out of the state appropriation must be met one-half of such expenses as these parties may incur. If it were possible for Dr. Jilison to control these expenditures, the state would likely spend less money for the same work; but when complaint is made about extravagance, the federal government says, 'Kentucky is getting all the benefits, and we are paying one-half the expenses, and engraving your maps free of charge.' In the opinion of our examiner, the appropriation of $17,500 for co-operative purpose with the federal government should be increased to $50,000 a year.

The report details the members of the survey, Dr. Willard Rouse Jilison, director and state geologist, the assistant geologists, and others. A summary of the survey's activities is given with an explanation that the field work of the survey for 1922 and 1923 consisted of a number of detailed and general geological and mineral resources investigations widely distributed throughout Kentucky.

In the last two years co-operative topographic base mapping executed by the Kentucky Geological Survey and the United States Geological survey resulted in completion of mapping of Bowling Green, Barbourville, Frankfort and Mammoth Cave, the report states.

"At the present time of the 40,538 square miles of the Kentucky 19,888 square miles are base topographical.

C. C. AND O. LEASE MAY GO THROUGH

L. & N. May Extend Negotiations and Harlan Bridge Must Serve Competitors

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Tentative negotiations to be placed upon the 900-year lease of the Carolina, Cincinnati & Ohio Railroad to the Atlantic Coast Line and the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, in the event the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission is favorable to the general proposition, are outlined by that body in a notice sent to all persons who have intervened or filed applications, and signed by Henry D. Hall, chairman of the commission.

It should be clearly understood that the commission has taken no definite position regarding the proposed conditions. Interested parties may file briefs up to March 1, 1924.

Two of the ten conditions proposed are as follows:

First—The applicant shall maintain the Carolina, Cincinnati & Ohio Railroad, as a separate entity and shall establish and maintain a separate organization for the combined properties of that company and its subsidiaries so that the three companies shall constitute a separate operating unit with a responsible management directly in charge of the operations of such properties.

Second—The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company shall, within six months after the date hereof, file with the commission its application under paragraph 15 of section 1 of the Interstate Commerce Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct the proposed connections between its Harlan, Ky., and its Harlan County branch on the one hand, and the Cincinnati & Ohio Railroad and the Cincinnati & Ohio Railroad on the other, and in event it proposes to acquire existing lines for use as a part of such connections, under such other provisions of the act, if in such proceeding it is found that the present or future public convenience and necessity require or will require the construction of either or both such connections, proceed with such construction in accordance with the terms of the certificate issued in such proceeding.

STRENGTHENING STATE'S BUDGET IS RECOMMENDED

To Do Away With Old System of Selling State Special Revenues for Each of Activities

NEW PLAN PROPOSED BY EFFICIENCY COMMISSIONER

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 13.—Strengthening of the State's budget procedure is urged upon Gov. Fields by the Efficiency Commission in a report made public today. A bill, carrying out the subcommittee on the commission's reports and will be introduced shortly, according to members of the commission. Senators McElroy, Kinnaird and Atwood comprise the committee.

Under the old plan of appropriating for the activities of the state the report states, special revenues were set aside for the support of each. This would be providing a certain mill for the most part which could be expended without much of any control by the various authorized agencies of the government.

The state of Kentucky has expressed its approval of the budget idea and formally adopted it in 1918, the report declares. "In actual fact it apparently has failed to grasp the principle and present day resources tied up almost as effectively as they were in the old days of statutory appropriations, and, in the second place, even within the limited field allowed to current appropriation it has failed to develop the budget to its proper character and efficiency, as a means for bringing in information and controlling expenditures. The first of these faults is chiefly a matter of law and the second would be entirely a matter of administration if it were not for certain handicaps imposed upon the budget commission by the law which create it."

The present law can be and "must be changed in order to get up a budget commission with a membership that can be expected to represent the state adequately, to provide for a budget staff, and state such requirements as to budget procedure as can properly be incorporated in the statutes," the report concluded.

It's Too Expensive
"I'm certainly at a loss. Don't know what to give my brother for his birthday."

"Why don't you give him money?"
"Oh, it mustn't cost as much as that!"—Answers (London).

It's Effort Enough!

REGROUPING OF STATE BOARDS RECOMMENDED

Efficiency Commission Would Have All of Government Work Directed by Fifteen Central Departments

NOW 11 GROUPS IN STATE EXECUTIVE BRANCH

Associated Press

FRANKFORT, Feb. 13.—Regrouping of the 71 boards, commissions, offices and institutions comprising the executive branch of Kentucky's government into 15 central departments is recommended to Gov. Fields in a report made today by the Efficiency Commission.

At present, the report states, there are nine elective offices, nine ex-officio and partly ex-officio boards, six single officers appointed by the governor, five department heads, otherwise appointed, seven professional examining boards, seven educational institutions, in dependent of central control. Five societies receiving state aid and three temporary commissions in the administrative structure.

Of the 71 agencies, eight are consolidated under the organization of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, three are nominally affiliated with the office of the State Auditor, three are affiliated with the Bureau of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics, four others, including one temporary body, are affiliated with other departments, and two of those remaining are temporary bodies, the report continues. "Therefore, it may be said that of the total number of 68 permanent agencies, at least 51 are entirely independent of each other."

The report discusses the present structure as "obviously a patch-work product, not consistent in logic, nor logical in arrangement to the slightest degree and a complete reorganization of a few large departments, each with a definite wide field of service, is the way out of these difficulties."

The proposals of the commission, which officials said, have been embodied in a bill, following reorganization into "fiscal" offices would include office of auditor of public accounts, elected by popular vote, office of the treasurer and state tax commission. The administrative departments would include the executive department, law, commerce of the budget and purchases and property, records, departments of law, welfare, health, education and Kentucky, libraries, agriculture, highways, business regulation, labor, and military affairs. The independent agencies would include the state employment commission, railroad commission, racing commission, and athletic board of control.

Race prejudice is most acute in that part of the higher race that is nearest to the lower.—San Diego Tribune.

Proceeds from this entertainment will go to the school library. Admission prices are school, 25 cents, adults, 50 cents.

BLACKSTONE IS NO AMATEUR MAGICIAN

The world is made up of two kinds of folks, amateur magicians and those who are not. The first thing they know how every necromantic illusion ever staged is created while the others have a tremendous curiosity to find out. This is one of the reasons for the great success of Blackstone who comes with his big exposition of legerdemain to the Manning Monday night and Tuesday matinee and night, February 18 and 19.
